Instruction:	Please attend ASAP to the below reported by TT:I have water ingress/damage in my flat again. Water appears to be penetrating from the pipework above my bathroom airing cupboard leaking into my airing cupboard where the shared drain pipe is situated. I also have water behind my upper kitchen cupboard. These are both places where the leaks started before. Further to my earlier email of today's date, my plumber believes the leak could be due to a faulty kitchen appliance. Possibly, the washing machine is leaking at the back.This would account for the water around my kitchen cupboards. This issue was not checked when the last water problem occurred last year. Could someone attend to this urgently, please?
